

Once constructed, a major scale, can be used to define the tonal center or “key” of a piece of music

If we look at the notes in the scale, it will tell us what sharps or flats, also know as “accidentals” would be in the key.